Complete Market Reports Corrected Each Day Giving the Wholesale Prices of Commodities, Farm Produce and Vegetables.

Portland, Jan. 5.—Dealers in California fruits and vegetables expect an advance in price along several lines as a result of recent frosts in the groves and gardens of that State. The frost was mainly confined to the valleys east of the Coast Range, though it is said the lemon crop of Los Angeles county will suffer materially.

Portland is mainly dependent on the California coast counties for green vegetables, and a shipment by steamer unloaded here this morning shows more or less injury as a result of cold nights. Lettuce, cauliflower, green peas and beans, celery, as well as citrus fruits, are expected to be higher as the season advances. The vegetable crop of California was short at best the past year, and prices have been higher than usual. The demand for oranges and lemons is light here at this time, but for green vegetables it is unusually heavy.

"It is not likely that a single bale of hops will be carried over until next hop harvest in Oregon," one dealer said today, "as growers are all eager to be rid of what they have. This is a queer condition of affairs, compared to this time last year, when hops were worth three times what they are now, and many growers and dealers were determined to hold on for still higher prices. Last year has taught the growers the risk of holding hops over, as the product deteriorates rapidly in the bale after the first year. The strong aroma of hops that comes from the new bale is the essence of the hops escaping, and as yet no way has been discovered to hold it."

"The cleaning up of last year's crop will have a good effect on this year's prices, as there will be no old hops in the way of the new, as there was last September."

MORE COMFORT THAN EVER.

On Sunday, December 17th, the Denver & Rio Grande railroad will inaugurate a daily line of standard and tourist sleeping cars between Denver and Los Angeles in connection with the new Clark road. Both cars will leave Denver daily at 9:30 a. m., and arrive at Salt Lake City at 1:35 p. m., the next day. At this point the cars will be held over until midnight, thus allowing through passengers the privilege of a stop-over of ten hours and a half in Salt Lake City. Eastbound, these cars will leave Los Angeles at 8 p. m., and arrive at Salt Lake City at 6:30 a. m., second morning where they will remain over until 3:30 p. m., thence to Denver where they will arrive at 4:30 the following afternoon. This stop-over at Salt Lake City of the regular line of sleeping cars promises to be an attractive feature for transcontinental travelers.
